

Professional Disclosure Statement
Jessica Tamulonis, Ph.D.

I am a licensed Psychologist, Doctorate level, in Vermont (Vermont License number: 048.0134955). I completed a Ph.D. in Counseling Psychology at the University of Buffalo – State University of New York. I completed my Internship and Post-Doctoral training at the Brattleboro Retreat. My areas of specialization include the use of third-wave cognitive behavioral therapy for the treatment of anxiety, mood and substance use disorders, and I also provide psychological testing and clinical supervision.

I can be contacted weekdays 8am-4pm at (802) 275-3165 or jtamulonis@brattlebororetreat.org

My mailing address is:

Jessica Tamulonis, Ph.D.

Brattleboro Retreat

P.O. Box 803

Brattleboro, VT 05302

Per Vermont Statutes governing the practice of Psychology I am required to provide the following information. This was also included in the welcome packet that was previously sent to you, for your signature, prior to our first appointment:

- Actions that constitute unprofessional conduct – In addition to the welcome packet, this information can be found here: <https://legislature.vermont.gov/statutes/section/26/055/03016>
- Methods for filing a complaint or making an inquiry:
  - Please first discuss any concerns regarding your treatment directly with me.
  - If you are not satisfied with my response or the resolution of your complaint, please contact Julie Tracy, LICSW, the Director of Outpatient Services at (802) 258-3737.
  - If this process is insufficient, you may contact the Brattleboro Retreat Patient Advocate at (802) 258-6118. You are also welcome to contact Disability Rights Vermont (DRVT), a non-profit advocacy agency for the rights of people with psychiatric disabilities, at (800) 834-7890.

